Beyond Bricks and Mortar: Teneo Members' Green Efforts Span Coast to Countryside, Initiatives Preserve Beaches, Woodlands, Wildlife

In South Florida, mangrove forests play a key role in marine ecology, serving as habitat for a variety of marine species and birds and as the first line of defense in the face of hurricanes. Guests of the Naples Grande Beach Resort can explore the adjoining 200-acre mangrove preserve and estuary via canoe and kayak. The hotel's eco-friendly boardwalk, composed of recycled milk jugs, provides an eco-friendly path to the resort's three miles of beachfront habitat, under the stewardship of its employees and managers.
